the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995 (Department of Health 1996).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector, and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public sector organisations, and the introduction of performance measures. The aim of these initiatives is to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public, in a cost-effective and efficient manner.

One of the key initiatives in the public sector is the introduction of competition. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being privatised, and to a number of public sector organisations being required to compete for contracts. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their efficiency, and to reduce their costs. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their quality of service, and to ensure that they are able to deliver the services that are required by the public.

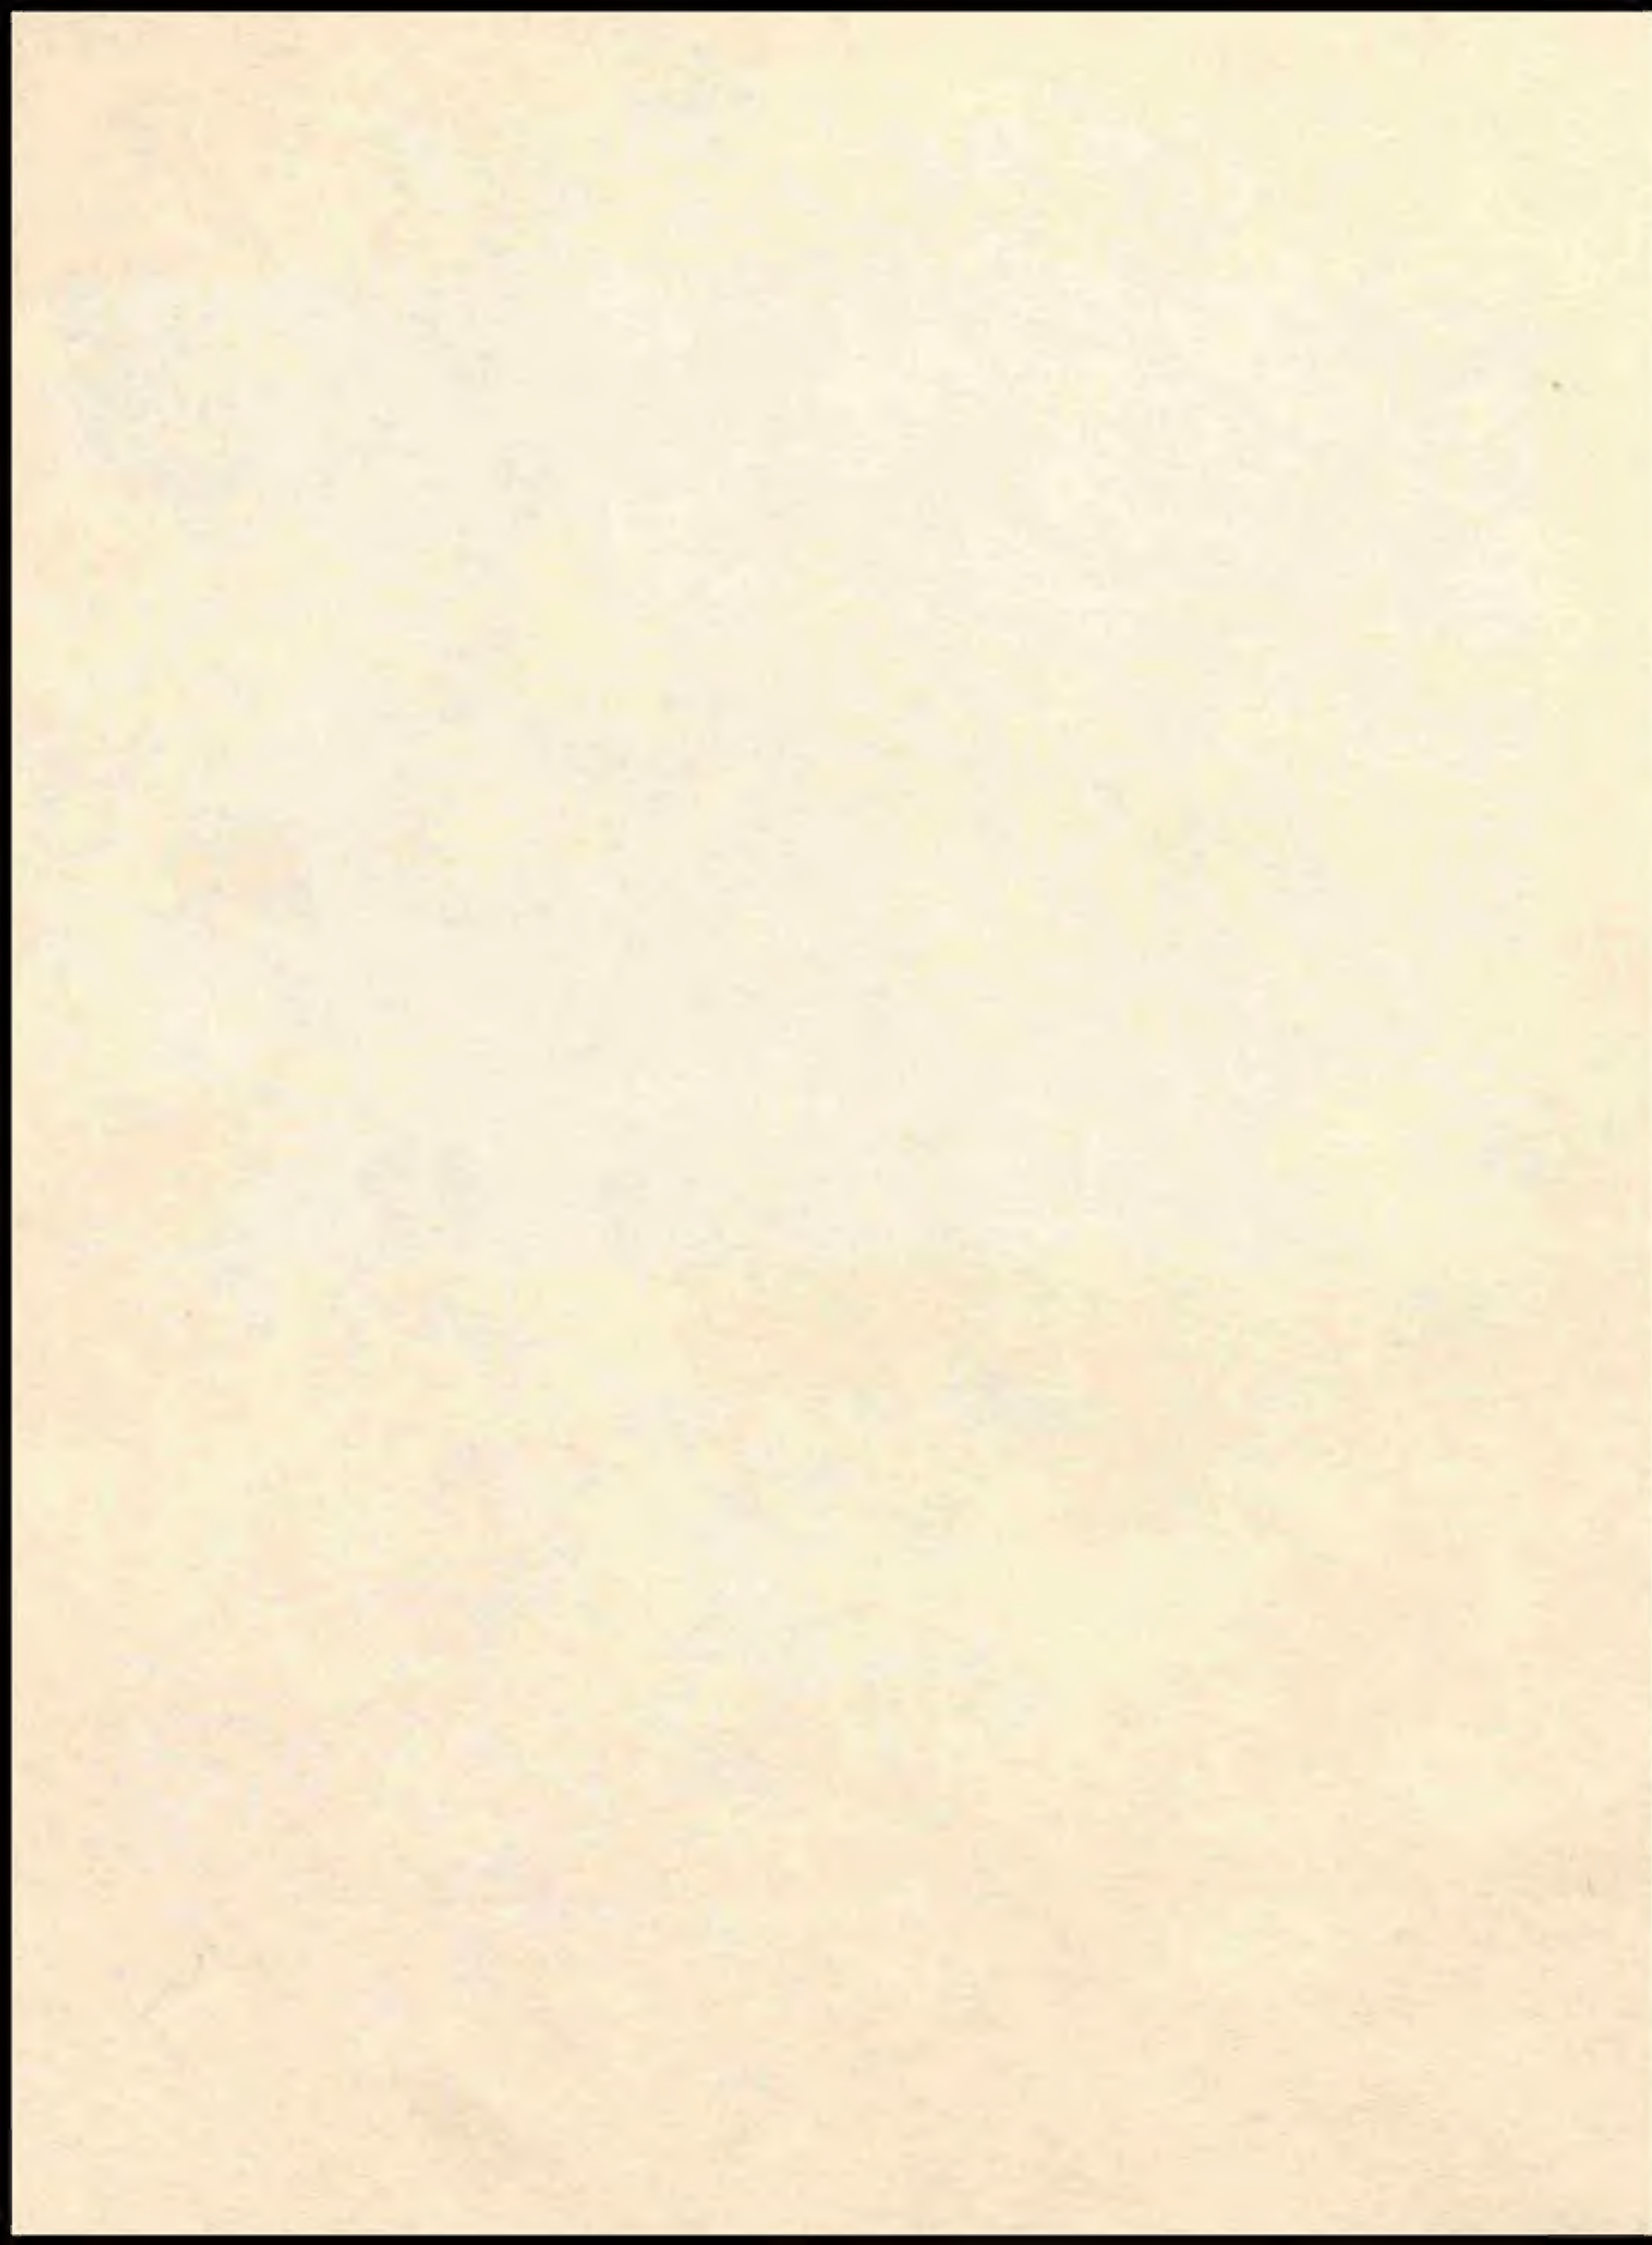

Another key initiative in the public sector is the restructuring of public sector organisations. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being merged, and to a number of public sector organisations being required to reorganise their structure. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their efficiency, and to reduce their costs. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their quality of service, and to ensure that they are able to deliver the services that are required by the public.

A third key initiative in the public sector is the introduction of performance measures. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to measure their performance, and to report on their performance. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their efficiency, and to reduce their costs. This has led to a number of public sector organisations being required to improve their quality of service, and to ensure that they are able to deliver the services that are required by the public.

Realizations

The Junior-Senior prom was only one of the many duties of the 53 members of the class of 1972. They elected the officers shown at right: Phil Maynard, president; Gary Wicker, vice-president; Joyce Kroeger, secretary; and Sandy Fredrichs, treasurer. Sponsoring the concession stand at football and basketball games meant hard work, but it earned funds for the class. Skits in U.S. History class and building the homecoming float, "Blackhawks Are Ever-ready," added humor to some of the duller school days. The many hours of hard work were well-spent, and the class produced a successful prom on May 8.

Exciting Experiences

The class of 1974's first project began with Homecoming. The fifty-four members were responsible for a float, which they titled "Put the Bite on the Bull Dogs," and "The Psychiatrist" was their skit for the Thursday night Homecoming activities.

Two new situations awaited this class of 41 eighth graders as they begin their final year of junior high school. The first was the junior high move from the Auburn building to the Lake View center. The Class of 1975 also experienced and experimented with modular scheduling. The first major class project was Homecoming. For the first time in several years the 8th grade submitted a float entry in the Homecoming parade. During the Christmas season the junior high student council planned a Christmas party for both classes. On March 13 the junior high participated in a small group band contest held at Storm Lake. The final junior high musical concert was held on May 25 and featured the band and chorus, chamber choir, a pop group, and a double mixed quartet. The last event for the 8th graders was a class trip to Ames and The Ledges.

The first year of junior high proved to be a busy and exciting one for the Class of 1976. This group began the year with a testing of modular scheduling and getting acquainted with the new habitat of the junior high. Homecoming was a frenzied time for this class as the 7th grade designed a float entry for the Homecoming Parade. The junior high band also marched in the parade. Early in December the junior high band performed in the Parade of Bands program held in the high school gymnasium. Both 7th and 8th grades sang with the high school chorus in the pre-contest concert held on April 28

Character, scholarship, leadership, service—these four traits are exemplified by members of National Honor Society. Sponsored by Mr. Eugene Freier, this group is composed of students chosen by the high school faculty of LVA. Eligible students must maintain at least a 3.0 grade average and display outstanding examples of service, leadership, and character. Admittance to this group is one of the highest honors attainable in high school.

Initiation this year was held on March 3 in the high school library, with parents and members of the school administration present. New members were not told of their admittance, and the surprise enhanced the honor of the selection.

Goals Attained with Effort

The first major activity of the Student Council was the planning of the Homecoming events early in October. After this was completed, the Council tackled the lake clean-up drive. October marked another accomplishment of the Council—the addition of a pop machine to the halls of LVA. A trophy case was purchased with the profits from the machine. The Christmas season brought the flurry of the Sno-Ball on December 19 with a gift exchange, dance, and visit from Santa Claus.

Spring brought strenuous effort from the Council to complete the task of hosting the District Student Council Convention. In April a second clean-up drive was held to promote Earth Day, with an assembly for town citizens. Also, trash cans were provided for the Sac City Beach area. The last action was the change in the election of the new council president. It was decided that each candidate file a petition signed by at least 25 students and present a campaign speech to the student body.

FFA Has Test Plot

1970-1971 was a forward and upward year for the Lake View-Auburn Future Farmers of America. With their new advisor Orville J. Berg, they rebuilt their chapter into a vital and growing organization. In doing so they competed in many judging contests, official FFA Leadership contests, and participated in Summer Leadership Camp. They also attended National and State Leadership Conference, and proposed legislation at State Convention. More on the local scene, the FFA reactivated the Pancake Supper and held a Greenhand and Chapter Trip. The Chapter also continued with its annual FFA banquet and fixing beach equipment. For the first time this year, the FFA conducted a soybean test plot. To finance this energetic program the FFA held a Christmas fruit sale. The members shown at the left are: First Row: Bob Mohr, Randy Buse, Greg Schultz, Randy Aschinger, Steve Frank, Melvin Buse. Second Row: Brian Mohr, Mark Gosch, Dennis Mohr, Dennis Werkmeister, Denes Frank. Third Row: Roger Hammerstrom, Randy Kent, Steve Kent, Gary Lietz. Fourth Row: Ray Meister, Mr. Berg, Ronald Buse.

Librarians Ease Research

Initiation Highlights French Year

The French Club began with only eight members, but on February 10 twenty-four new members were initiated. The eight members of French II, sponsored by Mrs. Arline Hunter planned the Evening of France to the utmost detail. The initiates were welcomed to the darkened dining room of a French café by the 'garçons.' They were seated at tables decorated with checkered tablecloths and illuminated by candles in wine bottles. As soft Parisienne music played, and an authentic five-course French meal was served hors d'oeuvres, onion soup, tossed lettuce salad, snails and pastries. President Karla Bahrenfus welcomed the initiates and introduced special guests Tina Von Rompu of Belgium and Birgitte Pedersen of Denmark. Mrs. Hunter presented a short lesson dealing with French art. Then the frivolity for the evening began. Each table presented an impromptu skit on such topics as "The First Date," "Casa Blanca," "The Cottage Cheese Conspiracy," and "The Night It Happened"—all in French, of course. Then individual penalties for the evening were paid by the French I students, and they were administered the official French Club oath after singing the French National Anthem. More French pastries and punch finished the evening of fun

The eighty-one members of mixed chorus pictured here once again enjoyed a learning and creative year under the direction of Mrs. Arline Hunter. They began with All-State Chorus try-outs. From the six quartets competing, eight members were chosen to represent the Choir at Des Moines over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Then more hard work and rehearsals followed and on December 20, the entire group made its first public performance at the Christmas Concert. In February a quartet was sent to Northwest Iowa Chorus and preparation for small group music contest began early in the new year. Again LVA emerged victorious at Class C competition. They presented the I ratings at a concert in March. In April, a sixty-five member group was chosen to exchange choral concerts with Sac City. This choir, plus both girls' and boys' glees, competed at large group contest at the end of April. The last two months of school were spent primarily in rehearsing and memorizing music for the annual Swing Show. This year's "Circus" was presented on May 15 and 16.

"Sweet and Low"

It was a "champion year" for band and vocal small groups at Class C Music contest. Competing with twelve schools, the vocal department pictured above, won twenty-five Division I ratings, and the band groups, pictured below, captured ten I ratings.

The Blackhawk Marching Band

" . . . And the Band Played on"

Mr. J. Andy Meredith kept the fifty members of his High School Blackhawk Band busy all year during the 1970-1971 season. They presented eight summer concerts, including one for the Summer Carnival. The band sported new uniforms, shown at left, as it presented half time shows for the four home football games, and on October 31 performed at the Buena Vista Homecoming Parade. They were also an important asset to LVA's Homecoming festivities.

A Parade of Bands on December 9 featured the High School Concert and Stage bands. Their spring concert was held on March 9, with a special guest performance by Mark Peterson with the stage band portion of the program. Then began the many rehearsals for small group music contest. The band contestants won 11 division 1 ratings at the Class C level.

The Band Carnival on April 2 highlighted the year for the band, but already preparation was beginning for large group contest held on May 1. The year was finished with "Circus" - a Swing Show presented by the band and vocal departments at LVA.

A sunny smile was one permanent characteristic of Jorge Navarro. Coming from Antofagasta, Chile, Jorge spent the second semester of the school year at LVA. His American family was the Rev. John Fyfe family of Auburn. Jorge is shown at right with Tim, Paul, and Malcolm Fyfe

This 16-year old was classified as a junior and studied chemistry, biology, American Literature/speech, typing, and U.S. History. He enjoyed collecting stamps and small flags, and the LVA students enjoyed his guitar playing and his original songs.

When Jorge returns to his family in Chile, he will resume his studies to become a doctor. This friendly South American's personality has made a great impression on LVA students and faculty

Youth For

The 1970-1971 school year was the second year in which LVA had the pleasure to host foreign exchange students. This year, three students shared the work, fun, activities, and friendships of the Lake View and Auburn school and communities. These students were Birgitte Pedersen, Knut Rahe, and Jorge Navarro. They were sponsored by the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program, which is an interfaith and interracial program

Denmark's loss—America's gain. This was certainly the situation when Birgitte Pedersen of Copenhagen came to spend a year in the LVA community. Birgitte, or "Gitta," made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Bud McCrea and Rodney, shown at right. Although her high school education was already completed in Denmark, Gitta was classified as a senior at LVA and studied U.S. History, government, American Literature/speech, Home Economics IV, Art III, and sociology. She served as Senior Class secretary, girls' basketball manager, member of the girls' golf team, honorary member of the Student Council and participated in the Honors System. She was also voted by the student body as a Homecoming queen finalist last fall.

Gitta enjoyed many hobbies including horseback riding, swimming, sewing, photography, and traveling. She was a valuable asset to the Art Department too

After returning to Denmark, Birgitte will begin studies in order to become an ergotherapist, who is a specialist dealing with handicapped people.

The year with Gitta has been one of increased understanding between Danish and American teens.

Understanding

A time of change is what Knut Rahts experienced when he came from Stragnas, Sweden to reside in the Rev. Fyfe home in Auburn for a period of four and a half months.

LVA was quite an adjustment to Knut after residing in a community of 11,000 people. The school, too, was quite different. The classes were small and on a strict time schedule, while he was accustomed to modular scheduling with classes of about 150 students. Football, basketball, and baseball games were new experiences because Knut's "gymnasium" school did not participate in competitive sports.

Knut especially noticed the spirit of American youth. He felt they were far more excitable than Swedish teens. American music, especially that of Led Zeppelin, was something Knut enjoyed.

Knut left LVA in mid-January to live in a larger Iowa community. He will finish his formal education in Sweden next year, and then he will enter a university to study physics and math.

To travel a great deal is one goal in Knut's life, and he hopes to return to America and his Iowa friends some day.

Blackhawks' Season —

Hawkettes — Bo-Coon Champs

The Hawkettes captured their first Bo-Coon Conference championship in the 20-year history of the conference during the 1970-1971 season.

The Hawkettes had a well-balanced season until the time of the Sectional Tournaments where after winning one game, they just couldn't put things together to win a right to District play. The Hawkettes had two disappointing defeats to Schaller, which were the only two losses of the regular season.

The team featured balanced scoring, tough rebounding, and good defense. The team defense was first in the conference. The Hawkettes placed three girls on the all-conference teams. They were Cynthia Seymour and Joyce Kroeger on the first team and Susan Olberding on second team.

All-School Play Features Orient

"Lovely ladies—kind gentlemen."

One of the most famous stories about the American Occupational Forces in the Orient is THE TEA HOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON by John Patrick

The play revolves about an American, Captain Fisby, and the people of an Okinawan village. Colonel Purdy, Fisby's superior, thinks he can become a general if Okinawa is "Americanized". Sakini, the native interpreter, guides Fisby to success.

The comedy was presented by the LVA Dramatics Department on November 13 & 14 under the direction of Mrs. Robert Deur. Allen Koessel portrayed the part of Captain Fisby, Dave Borron played the part of Colonel Purdy, and Sakina was played by Dennis Simon.

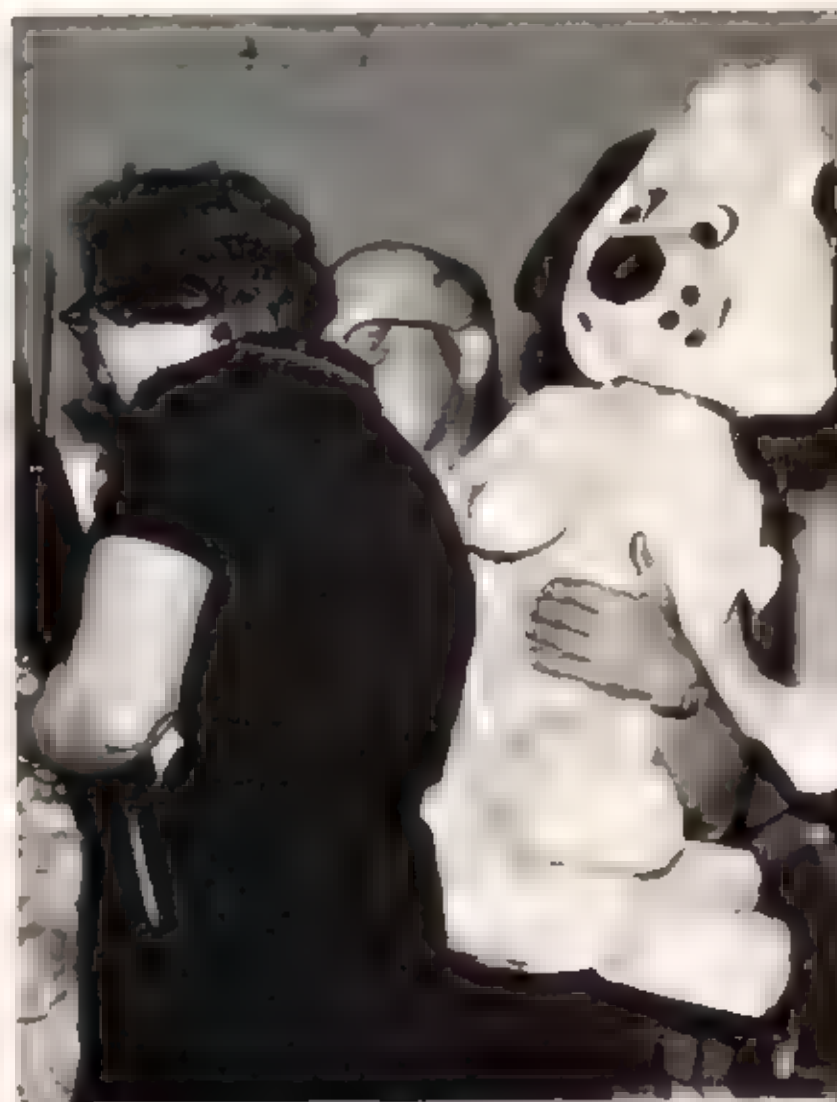

Band Carnival this year was held on April 2. More people than ever crowded into the old gym for the regular amusements: fun house, dunk'em, basketball and tango. Others were found in the new gymnasium for the stage band presentation or in the lunchroom for a quick bite to eat.

The climax of the evening, of course, was the crowning of the band carnival king and queen. Trumpeters Steve McConnell, Earl Hanson, and Laurie Deur, pictured below, performed a fanfare. Last year's royalty Heidi Onstot and Bruce Wright, announced the class candidates: Seniors Kathy Jacobsen and Marc Meyer, Juniors Becky Wollesen and Tom Broich; Sophomores Mary Jo Renze and Allen Rohde; and Freshmen Dawn Meyer and Kim Bromley. The Freshmen sold the most tickets; therefore, Dawn and Kim were crowned queen and king. Heidi Onstot won the large stuffed animal, and Kim Poepppe and Doug Pick were awarded prizes for the basketball throw.

New Ideas

The Student Council innovated the Homecoming festivities this year. The results proved the new ideas to be successful, and the 1970 Homecoming was a memorable occasion.

Work began Monday on class and club floats; and class skits, a new feature of the festivities, were planned Thursday night, the skits, pep talks by coaches and players, and the crowning of the Queen were held in the old gymnasium. Dave Borron served as Master of Ceremonies, and Kirk Cook crowned JoAnn Sturm Homecoming Queen. JoAnn was attended by Cynthia Seymour and Birgitte Pedersen. The traditional snake dance led the spirited crowd to the bank corner for more pep talks and cheers. Dennis Simon predicted a victory for LVA when he jumped through the burning hoop without singeing the feather headdress. The Juniors were named winners of the skit competition.

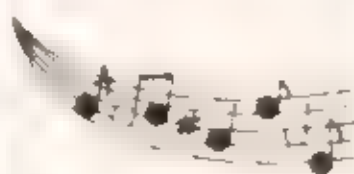

On Friday afternoon, the traditional float parade was held on Main Street, with the FFA winning first prize for their entry, "We'll Cream the Bulldogs" shown above. The Blackhawks bombed the Lytton Bulldogs with a 20-6 victory. Music for the Homecoming Dance was provided by Freedom.

The Circus Is Coming to Town!

"Welcome to the 1971 Circus!" With these words, ringmaster Dave Borron introduced the two evenings of music, fun, and entertainment presented by the LVA combined Music Departments. From the overture, presented by the band, to the Finale by the entire cast, the program included favorites for everyone: clowns, the trained horses, the animals, Le Cyclists, high wire artists, tumblers, statues, the aerialists, Der Meistersingers and the Hawaiian Party. Even the Side Show offered unusual entertainment: the bearded lady, siamese twins, Buffalo Bill and His Billies, Powerful Katrinka and the midget.

These attractions lured large crowds to the Lake View Gymnasium on May 14 and 15. Not only did the audience enjoy the performances, but the 'circus personnel,' under the direction of Mrs. Hunter and Mr. Meredith, also fell under the spell of the Circus

1971 Prom Captures Old

The Juniors chose to rejuvenate the Old South in their prom this year, and on May 8, "Gone With the Wind," became a reality. A fountain, several gardens, and white trellises were the main features of the decorations; and Sophomore waiters and waitresses carried out the Southern theme in their white dinner jackets and long, flowing gowns.

Mr. Lee was featured speaker for the event, and the Morningside Stage Band provided music for the dance. A movie was held at the Capri Theatre in Lake City and several breakfasts for the prom-trotters were served early Sunday morning.

May 23, 1971 marked the end of high school education for forty-three seniors. Commencement was held at 2:30 p.m. that day in the new gymnasium with many relatives and friends in attendance

The Rev. H W. Kramer gave the invocation and benediction; and Dr. George LaMore inspired the graduates with his message of "Hypocrisy is a Hall of Mirrors." Graham Hoeg, president of the school board, presented the diplomas to the class, eight of which were honor students.

Music for the occasion was provided by the Senior Singers and pianists Becky Wollesen, Mary Pat Ferguson, and Patti Hill.

The boys were also very successful taking second in a Triangular Meet at Sac City along with their two titles as champions. There was only one record set this year in boys track Tom Orness in the pole vault.

The Junior High Football team featured a well-balanced attack to compile a 2-3 season. The team's two wins came with a 30-8 victory over Lohrville and a 31-21 victory over Crestland. Their defeats came from Newell-Providence, 14-36; Wall Lake, 0-16; and Odebolt-Arthur, 6-22
